Clothes That Are Different

Men are so much alike that in order to differentiate, a man must wear clothes to bring out his own good points—to make him stand out from the crowd. Hand tailored clothes not only do this, but in addition give longer wear, better service and more value for the same investment. And, they retain their shape and look well as long as they last. Let us prove this by making your next suit for you.

Our Mr. L. A. Hilla will resume his frequent trips to the camps with the raising of the influenza quarantine. In the meantime we're taking care of many through the mails and by telephone. We do ladies and gentlemen's cleaning. Also hair dressed.

Candy At Bargain Prices

This holiday season is now over, but we are still selling the choicest of candies at remarkably low prices. We have one of the finest lines of candy that was ever placed on display here, and in no place could you supply your needs at the same low prices.

When you want candy come to us and select from a stock that is pure and fresh.

Our fountain, at which we will be pleased to serve you all kinds of hot drinks, is one of the most modern to be seen anywhere. Drop in during the evening or any time that you chance to be down town, and let us serve you.

Hart, chief federal drainage engineer for the district, under whose direction several

PRICE AND NEARBY

Mrs. F. W. Gresser is numbered among the sick this present week.

Manager McDowell states that the Savoy Cafe is starting off with an exceptionally good business. Better than he had expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Leonard, newlyweds, have gone to homekeeping in the Horsley residence on North Sixth street.

J. E. Holmes, representative from Carbon county, went to a Zion hospital the first of the week with influenza. His case, however, is a mild one.

Mrs. E. F. Chamberlain this week heard from Dr. Chamberlain, who is still in France doing hospital work. He does not hope to get home for at least six months yet—if then. He hasn't had a week's day since leaving Price.

Uncle Sam has not yet begun to carry the mail from Helper to Vernal, but the big trucks left San Francisco on December 30th and should arrive at any time. The postmaster at Helper has been notified to look out for them.

Carbon county Republicans are to banquet on Lincoln's birthday, February 12th. J. P. McKnight, county chairman, and L. A. McGee, secretary, are planning the affair. Letters are being sent out to all party workers in the several precincts.

Mrs. Mary Millard of Hiawatha is filing on some valuable water rights over near that coal camp to apply on grazing lands in the south west portion of Carbon county. Notices of appropriation are being published in this impression of The Sun.

The Methodist church will begin its regular services at Price Sunday next, January 19th. The pastor, Rev. Ralph C. Jones, will preach at 11 o'clock. For the present there will be no evening service. The sermon themes will cluster about the great events of the home—patriotic, historical, spiritual, and helpful. The pulpit cordially invited. "Come then with us and we will do these good."

Price has its first lady telegraph operator to work here for the Denver and Rio Grande in the person of Miss Agnes Johnson of Woodside, a grand daughter of Scott Miller, a pioneer of that section of Eastern Utah. She has worked for the road at several places east of here since learning telegraphy and is considered one of the very best operators and railway clerks of the West. Miss Johnson is doing the around trick.

Mrs. Lee S. Thomas received word this week from her husband from Tereva (Germany) that he is sick in a hospital there, recovering from the influenza, but at the time of writing able to sit up. He is with the Hundred and Forty-Fifth Field artillery and enlisted from Winter Quarter as a volunteer. He went first to Camp Lewis, Wash., and later was ordered overseas. Mrs. Thomas thinks he will not be coming home until late next spring.

Barbard J. Stewart, Daniel Alexander and M. E. Waddoups, lawyers of Salt Lake City, have opened a branch office for the general practice of law in the Silvan building at Price. This firm has enjoyed an extensive practice in the intermountain region. It provides a specialist in such specific branch of the law. The purpose of opening a branch office at Price is to expedite the handling of its practice in this section and to more readily accommodate its clients through the local office.

P. H. Donaher of Helena, Mont., who put in a greater part of last summer in the country adjacent to Price looking into oil and shale conditions, was recently at Wallace, Ida., inspecting a well which he believes is of a type required as a property which he is developing and which he became interested in since leaving here. He writes associates at Price that he expects to be back in this locality by spring. Himself, Matt Warner and others have some promising shale ground up near Kynue.

So far as the public is concerned, local draft boards in Utah ended their work last Wednesday, when they closed their doors and ceased to carry on correspondence as separate and distinct boards. Those who have dealings with the draft organization will hereafter communicate with state headquarters at Salt Lake City. But the draft organization will be continued for several weeks, while its officials and employees make up final reports and complete records, according to Capt. Gordon Snow, federal draft executive officer for Utah.

It is now possible to dispatch mail to Serbia. Notice has been received from the office of the second assistant postmaster general that henceforth letters and postcards be accepted at the different postoffices in this country when addressed for delivery in Serbia. It will be observed that there is no parcels post service between the United States and Serbia, and that mail articles, registered and ordinary, to be accepted, are limited to letters and postcards.

Experiments in the vicinity of Huntington have been conducted.—Castle Dale Progress, 10th.

Elmer Adley has been in town this week from his ranch in the Nine Mile country. There has been considerable snow in the hills, but not what there should be at this time of year. Stock of all kinds, however, are doing well.

This Organization Is Human

We believe that we have carried personal service in banking to the utmost degree. Certainly we have tried to make every depositor, large or small, feel that he is a friend as well as a client.

We want to impress on your mind the thought that we are a human organization, interested in the progress of our customers—not an institution which deals solely in dollars and cents. It is on this basis only that we solicit business.
